Course Description, Prerequisites, Corequisites:

This course is designed to help currently employed, full-time recreation practitioners who have a minimum of five years direct experience as a programmer (or equivalent level) become more intentional and more effective in their professional practice. Key concepts in the course include experiential learning, reflective practice, and the analysis of action theories. Learners will relate these concepts to their own workplaces with the help of a faculty supervisor and with the support of their employer. The course will take place at each learner's workplace. Students must judge their time to accommodate weekly communication with their faculty advisory and to write weekly reports about their on-site learning and research. A major term paper is also required. Prospective students must apply to the department for permission to take this course. Contact the Recreation Co-ordinator for more information.

Registration in this course is restricted to students admitted to the Bachelor of Recreation Management and the Recreation Leadership Diploma.

Students will receive credit for only one of RECR 2487 and 2497.

Prerequisite(s): a minimum "C" grade in all 1000 and 2000 level Recreation courses (or an "S" in courses graded S/U).

If missing three credits in one non-Recreation course, a student contact the Department chair, in writing, requesting to register in either RECR 2487 or RECR 2497.
